CARMEL COLLEGE, MALA

10. GENDER SENSITIZATION POLICY

Higher educational institutions have a significant role in orienting young minds towards the ideals of gender equality, inclusivity, and diversity. Sensitizing the student community on issues about gender and empowering women, particularly the rural women, through quality education and community engagement is one of the pivotal resolves of Carmel College. The very vision and mission of the institution reflect this and, in all earnestness, strives to actualize this objective. Under this policy, the institution shall,

1. Implement measures to ensure a safe and dignified learning environment and workplace for staff and students
2. Organize insightful seminars, conferences, workshops, interactive/motivational talks that can promote cognizance of various dimensions of gender
3. Collaborate with local police/NGOs/experts to educate on ways to combat gender bias/ violence or any form of sexual harassment and the laws and rights constituted for the same
4. Institute internal systems of relief and grievance redressal that are readily accessible to all
5. Ensure concrete means to address and redress grievances related to harassment or discrimination based on gender
6. Disseminate awareness on gender issues among students through effective delivery of course modules in the curriculum within the classroom
7. Open avenues to organize debates, discussions, surveys, paper presentations, competitions on topics related to gender, basic rights to dignity and respect, gender justice and the like
8. Encourage staff and students to take up major/minor projects, doctoral thesis, dissertation/projects that address diverse aspects of gender

24

CARMEL COLLEGE, MALA

9. Provide training to the students to equip them as active disseminators of knowledge on gender rights and equality among other younger learners in the community and neighbourhood
10. Provide counselling and self-defence training to ascertain their mental and physical fitness
11. Observe commemorative days such as International Women's Day, Girl Child Day etc. to cultivate a sense of pride and purpose
12. Ensure effectual services of Carmel Extension Centre for Women, in providing training to the adult and young women of the neighbourhood in bookbinding, notebook making, tailoring, embroidery, handicrafts and ornaments making to empower them in securing financial independence
13. Strengthen its community engagement through forming women collectives in the neighbourhood, organizing gender awareness/empowerment campaigns/classes, extending financial assistance and also library services to widen their knowledge

About the Department

The department of Sociology came in to existence in 1984 and upgraded to a post graduate department with the introduction of M.A programme in 2006.

About the Seminar

This seminar sets out to examine the interface between gender, subject and every day life in contemporary India. Gendered subject is not biological or even psychological but primarily a social being who experiences her femininity in inter subjective relationships with several others in a complex interplay of class, caste, regional and socio economic factors .the complexity of gendered subject in her on construction is acknowledged ,as are also her frequent attempts at resistance, and this is infact central to the processes of social construction. The seminar also examines the gendered embodiment of the female subject in everyday life. So how gender is inscribed on subject in everyday life both socially as well as through her on perceptions of culture.
