Report of National Seminar On Women After 75 Years Of Independence

Women's question came to be a subject of discussion during the colonial rule and continued during the second quarter of freedom struggle. It also continued to be in the constitutional discussions of post independence period. And now even after 75 years of independence the question still persists and there exists a wide gulf between the policies articulated for women and the ground realities in their assessment and implementation. Since independence there are number of laws enacted for improving the condition of women. We have The Dowry Prohibition Act of 1961, Domestic Violence Act of 2005, Harassment of Women at the Workplace Act, The Child Marriage Restraint Act, Immoral trafficking Prevention Act – 1956, Prohibition of Child Marriage Act 2006, The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, The Right to Education Act-2010, the Equal Wages Act, etc.

The seminar was conducted in the Audio-visual Room on 21st February 2023 at 10:00 AM. ABOUT THE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Women are empowered when they are able to claim their rights and to shape the decisions, policies, rules and conditions that affect their lives. An approach to development that is grounded in human rights treats everyone as agents of their own development. Being the primary caretakers of children and elders in every country of the world, they demonstrate leadership and adjust to new realities and challenge when the economy and political organization of a society change. The importance of protecting women's rights is recognized in the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), particularly those on Gender Equality (SDG 5) and Decent Work and Economic Growth (SDG 8). The Preamble, Fundamental Rights, Fundamental Duties and Directive Principles of the Indian Constitution not only grants equality to women, but also empowers the State to adopt measures of positive discrimination in favor of women. Within the framework of a democratic polity, our laws, development policies, Plans and programmes have aimed at women's advancement in different spheres. Having a host of laws to protect women & children against discrimination, violence, exploitation and sexual harassment, it is important that we witness its reality of how it is being implemented and practiced widely. Report Of International Conference On Deliberations On The Legislations Towards Women & Children

Deep-rooted within the culture of India is the fierce egalitarianism that truly wants to come out, yet repetitive disruptive and negative behavior of our people that stops this form of living to develop and flourish in our society. Women and children undeniably face multiple difficulties that are inherent in our social structure. Some of the complications can be curtailed by legal provisions in favor of the people. Indian law has contributed their share (which still needs to be improved and publicly taught, but giving credit where it is due) in giving provision women and children their rights.

A no of 20 students and 2 faculty members of the Department of Political Science attended a 2 day International Conference on Deliberations On Legislations Towards Women & Children conducted by the Department of Social Work of Cauvery College For Women(Autonomous), Tiruchirapalli, Tamilnadu. The conference had 4 plenary sessions held by various resource person on the topics Protective measures for Women & Children – an international perspective, Women in Organized and Unorganized Sectors, Child Welfare measure at Social Level and Role of Government in Child Protection. The session of Paper Presentation was held on topic Deliberations On Legislations Towards Women & Children. Ms. Mary Philip, HoD of the Department of Political Science and 3 students of the department – Safna Yasmine, Sreeshma A.K, Nandhana Shaju presented the paper.

Outcome Of the Programme

The International Conference was a really beneficial event for the students. The four sessions was really fruitful and interesting too. Students had the privilege to interact with eminent resource person and student had an opportunity to clear their queries in each session. It is really appreciable that the resource persons were pleased to clear the student's queries.
