

Employers' Feedback : 2023-2024

Analysis of Employers' Feedback : 2023-2024

Feedback from employers is crucial for understanding how well the curriculum aligns with the skills and competencies required in the workforce. Employers' perspectives can help identify whether graduates are adequately prepared for the challenges they will face in their careers and if the curriculum meets industry standards.

The employers have rated the curriculum well in imparting basic subject knowledge, ability to manage leadership qualities, planning and organizational skills and overall impression regarding performance, receiving average scores of 4.29, 4.32, 4.43 and 4.29 respectively. A good score of 4.18 is given by employers for the curriculum being competent in moulding social responsibility in learners. General communication skills imparted by the curriculum is also found satisfactory with a score of 4.29.

The employers are slightly concerned regarding the capability of the curriculum in developing certain skills which are required by the current job industry such as relationship with the peers, performance in team work and involvement in social activities. The average scores for these aspects received are 4.11, 4.03 and 3.96 respectively. The employers have also highlighted the need for incorporating skills in curriculum which prepare students to be competent in the workforce. So the average scores received for aspects such as capability of curriculum in providing skills, relevance of curriculum for job and industry requirements are 4.04, 4.04 and 3.92 respectively. Although the curriculum provides enough theoretical knowledge, practical skills delivery is lacking and the average score received in this regard is 3.96.